Supplies Needed

*Regular embroidery supplies, stabilizer, thread, scissors etc. (Note: I like cutaway stabilizer for most ITH projects unless otherwise indicated. I find that it provides more stability to the finished product.

*Vinyl or cork for magnet base - felt or vinyl for appliqué.

*I used oly fun for the back, but you could also use a thin vinyl like chalkboard vinyl or something that doesn't fray. Cork is also very thin and works wonderfully!

*Small sharp appliqué scissors - because the magnets are small, the satin stitching is very thin so you MUST clip right up to the tack down line in order for the satin stitching to cover your stitches.

*Magnetic tape or whatever strong magnets you have on hand.

*Glue or hot glue to attach the magnets

My supplies are listed at the end.

Attaching Magnets

I like to use E6000 glue when attaching magnet tape. It's very strong. Even though my magnetic tape has adhesive - I have found that it doesn't do a great job holding up over time and therefore the E6000 is necessary.

Pro Tip: Buy the small tubes of the glue - that way if the side splits (it happens) or the applicator gets gunked up - you're not wasting much. Using clips to hold the tape in place after gluing helps make sure that the tape doesn't curl. Let it cure per instructions on tube!! Don't try to use the magnet until the glue is completely dry!!
